John Russell Applegate Fund for Teachers

Training and Support Grant Policies for 2017-2018

John Russell Applegate (1944-2003) lived most of his life around Sutherland, Nebraska, where he made many friends. He served with honor in the U.S. Army during the Vietnam War. He left a generous bequest to Mid-Nebraska Community Foundation establishing a fund for education, training and support of teachers.

Training and Support Grants from the John Russell Applegate Fund for Teachers are guided by these policies:

1. Grant applications will be considered which provide training or support for K-12 teachers at elementary and secondary schools located in the West Central Nebraska counties of Custer, Dawson, Frontier, Hayes, Keith, Lincoln, Logan, McPherson and Perkins.
2. Grants typically are made only to public schools, to other public educational organizations as well as to non-profit, federally tax-exempt 501(c)(3) organizations. Grants are not made directly to individuals. Grants are not made to support current operating budgets of organizations except for limited experimental or demonstration periods in the form of “seed” money. Grants are made without regard to race, religion, creed or color.
3. Objectives for Training Grants will be reviewed annually and may change from time to time. Currently applications are being solicited for training grants in amounts of between $250 and $5,000 for training and/or instructional coaching benefiting several K-12 teachers at elementary and/or secondary schools in West Central Nebraska with one or more of the following objectives:
 - a. Training benefiting several teachers in research-based or proven practices to teach language arts, mathematics and/or science
 - b. Training benefiting several teachers in classroom behavioral management strategies
 - c. Training benefiting several teachers in learning styles and differentiated instructional strategies
4. Applications are being solicited for Support Grants in amounts of between $250 and $5,000 to help cover costs of acquiring resources wanted by K-12 teachers at elementary and secondary schools in order to provide innovative and effective learning experiences for students. Grants for general purpose computers will not be awarded. Grants for only a limited number of “Smart Boards” or other specific types of electronic devices in any school building will be awarded.
5. Because there are typically far greater requests for financial support than available resources, projects are favored that will make a major impact, will help make a needed change, or will contribute to the solution of an important educational problem or challenge. Grant awards may differ from the amount of grant money requested.
6. While grant applications are accepted year round, Mid-Nebraska Community Foundation will award grants from the John Russell Applegate Fund for Teachers three times per year. Application deadline dates are: October 15, January 15 and April 15. Applicants will be notified by mail about six weeks after application deadline.
7. Current grant application forms are available from Mid-Nebraska Community Foundation. The Advisory Board for the John Russell Applegate Fund for Teachers will review grant applications and grant awards are contingent upon approval by the Board of Directors of the Community Foundation.
